

'Line of Sight' Workshop

Resettlement from the offenders' point of view
 Dorset Threshold Dialogue: the whole system live
 A Reducing Re-offending Strategy Consultation Forum

Thursday 11th November 2010 10am – 4pm
 at HMP Guys Marsh

For the last 5 years a unique ground-breaking initiative has been running in Dorset bringing together statutory and 3rd Sector agencies in a working partnership that runs from grass roots to strategic leadership. Every week in Threshold Dialogue sessions at 6 different venues in prisons and the community, offenders, police officers, prison officers, council staff, housing support workers, drug councillors, community workers, magistrates, and many others sit and talk together as a group about issues affecting resettlement. In every session people are learning how to change their lives, how to improve their professional practice and how to run more effective services.

This workshop will bring together the whole Threshold Dialogue system to:

- Understand and support resettlement along the Line of Sight from the offenders' point of view
- Provide a consultation forum for the Dorset Reducing Re-offending Strategy
- Improve the effectiveness and sustainability of Dorset Threshold Dialogue.

We hope you will be able to join us.

Assistant Chief Constable Mike Glanville – Chair of Reducing Reoffending Strategy Board
 Detective Superintendent Gary Smith – Chair Threshold Dialogue Governance Board
